

PRESIDENT WILSON CANCELS LEAGUE SPEAKING DATES

STEEL STRIKERS AND POLICE BATTLE AT CLAIRTON TODAY

Next Move of Strikers Will be to Call Out Bethlehem Steel Employees

Bethlehem Steel Employees Number 50,000 With Mills at Bethlehem and Other Cities

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 26.—Strikers and state and local police engaged in a long range gun battle at Clairton early today. The firing was between five and six o'clock A.M. Twelve strikers began firing on men who were on their way for their day's work. It was dark and only the flashes from the strikers' guns revealed their whereabouts. Trouble was expected and state and local police were laying in wait. Giving chase they captured three men whose guns had been emptied and reloaded. It is not known if any of the strikers were hit.

It is believed the next step of the union leaders will be an attempt to tie up the Bethlehem Steel company's plants. President Grace of the Bethlehem company has refused to grant the steel workers committee a conference. The organization is expected to take action between now and Monday.

The Bethlehem company was not included in the last strike call because negotiations were still on. It is understood the workers have voted to strike Sept. 29.

Foster stated that action by the national committee was necessary before a strike could be called and said he expected the committee to meet immediately. The Bethlehem employees approximate 50,000 men with plants at Bethlehem, Steelton, Lebanon, Reading, Titusville and Sparrows Point. Reports, as the morning shifts went to work in the Monacaugh valley today an increased number of men were reported.

Ohio Strikers Invade West Virginia.
Calumet, Sept. 26.—Gov. Cornwell of West Virginia today wired Governor Cox that 5,000 men from the vicinity of Steubenville were reported to be about to cross the Ohio river into Hancock county, West Virginia, and compel workmen to quit their places.

Any such effort Cornwell warned Cox will be regarded as an attack upon the sovereignty of West Virginia.

Cox immediately wired the sheriff at Steubenville as follows:

"I have no means of knowing whether the delegation in question intends to violate the law in Ohio but urge upon you to use your best offices in order to avoid any possibility of a conflict between the citizens of this commonwealth and state government of West Virginia."

Dakota County Farmer Murders Wife With Axe

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—John Swartz slept soundly and peacefully in the Dakota county jail at Hastings after having murdered his wife with an axe.

He confessed and entered a plea of guilty all within two hours after he had committed the murder. A series of quarrels resulted in his wife serving papers for divorce. He went home last night and secured all the doors and windows and struck her with a shoe last and felled her. As she dragged herself to the bed he rushed to the barn after an axe and returned and struck her on the forehead then went to the police station.

Will Return to Washington at Once Account of Ill Health

(By United Press)

Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 26.—President Wilson today cancelled the remaining days of his league of nations covenant tour. Ill health was announced from the stage as the cause for abandonment of his tour.

The president's train arrived at 9:10. He did not appear at the Auditorium where he was scheduled to speak. A parade in his honor was postponed.

HUGH BAILEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard the President's Train near Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 26.—President Wilson is suffering from an attack of nervous indigestion and today started for Washington abandoning the remaining dates of his league of nations tour.

The president in his private car dictated the following statement to the people of Kansas:

"It is with sincere regrets that I am unable to meet the fine people of Wichita and Kansas to lay before them all the facts regarding the peace treaty and the league of nations. I know with what candor you desire to treat this important matter and I am confident what their judgment of the facts would be. It is a regret to have to leave without having the pleasure of coming in personal contact with you."

Dr. Grayson spent almost all last night with him it was learned before he ordered the tour abandoned.

When word began spreading at Wichita that President Wilson would not speak there people rode in automobiles to the remote spot where his train was parked. Secret service agents refused to let anyone enter the car.

The president's train will return at once to Washington, according to Secretary Tamm.

The severe strain of the trip brought on nervous reaction in the digestive organs, said Dr. Grayson.

The special train was to leave Wichita at 11 A. M. without the president attempting the speech.

Announcement of the cancelled date was made before a crowd of 15,000 at the auditorium at Wichita. S. A. Amidon, a national democratic committeeman from Kansas City, made the statement. The city was crowded for the president's visit.

Lack of exercise was supposed to be partially responsible for his condition as he has had rare opportunity to take exercises. The president took an automobile tour today upon advice of Dr. Grayson who insisted he must have some fresh air. He has made forty speeches since leaving Washington and has spent all but a few nights on the train.

The president's train will return via St. Louis and Kansas City arriving at Washington at 8 Sunday morning.

The president had five dates which he was forced to cancel. They were Oklahoma City, Little Rock, Memphis, Louisville and Wichita, where he was to speak today.

Return of Wilson May Change Treaty Support

Washington, Sept. 26.—Treaty supporters in the senate today saw in the president's return to Washington a chance to secure conversion of wavering senators and mild reservationists.

As soon as the president's health will permit, administration leaders desire to get some information for private use. They will refuse to accept any ratification which includes reservation requiring the action of other nations. If the president will

LABOR'S RIGHT TO DAY IN COURT IS THE ISSUE

In the Steel Workers Strike Testifies Samuel Gompers Before Senate Committee

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 26.—"Labor's right to a day in court," is the issue in the steel strike, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor told the senate labor committee today.

Gompers was the second witness in the investigation of the strike by the senate.

"The issue of this strike is the right of the employees to be heard through their own representatives, and spokesmen of their own choosing, then have the opportunity for their own day in court, the employers office," Gompers said.

"In the last twenty-five years steel workers have repeatedly been denied the right of association," he added, and said "This was done with all the power, wealth and domination of the steel corporation."

"They were denied this by unwarranted and brutal means."

Committeemen believe they are on the way to bring together employer and employees without executive aid.

The strike situation has reached a white heat and members of the investigation committee believe and the time has arrived for a direct attempt at settlement.

Continuing his testimony Gompers charged that the steel companies had been guilty of systemizing efforts to eliminate Americans from the plants and substituting foreigners. He declared the steel corporation was in combination and collusion with shipping companies to bring labor from south Europe and the Balkans.

Gompers said he had documents gathered by the A. F. of L. some years ago to prove collusion by the steel corporation and German-American and other shipping companies. He promised to lay these before the committee.

American Marines Occupy Dalmatian Coast Town

Drive Italians Back to Armistice Line, and Then Leave

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 26.—Two hundred American Marines landed in Troguir (Trau) on the Dalmatian coast and turned the town over to the Jugo Slavs after the leaders had compelled an Italian detachment to withdraw, a newspaper agency dispatch from Copenhagen reported today.

The Dispatch said that when the Slav detachment began to advance on Troguir the American destroyer entered the harbor to compel the retirement of the Italians to the armistice line.

The inhabitants opened fire on the Italians under retreat and in the meantime two hundred Americans entered the town and took possession. The town was turned over to the Jugo Slavs and the Americans reembarked.

Asks If It Is True

L. E. MARTIN

(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Sept. 26.—The senate today adopted a resolution inquiring of the navy department whether the report of the landing of American marines at Trau on the Dalmatian coast are true. Senator Knox offered the resolution.

Report has it that the Standard Oil company is to soon erect a large tank at Pillager on the railroad right of way. This is caused on account of the heavy increase of sales of gas at Pillager the past few years. The present supply is received by truck from Brainerd. Two years ago one trip a week of the truck supplied the entire demand. Some idea of the increase of the amount consumed at Pillager can be ascertained when last week, as an example, the truck had to make five trips to supply the demand. The trucks holds 360 gallons. P. Domestic Cat Distinct Species.
The Egyptian cat seemed to have a good claim to the honor of being the ancestor of the domestic cat, both on account of its tapering tail and size, in which it bears a great similarity to the domestic cat. But peculiarities which were discovered in its dentition were sufficient to remove its claim. So it seems best to consider the domestic cat a distinct species.

WOMAN'S REALM

Come Fly With Me and Be My Love

By MARGARET ROHE
(United Press Correspondent)

"Oh won't you come and fly with me!" Her "Planitive" suitor cried. "The surest thing you know" said she And in the house she hid To don her aviating togs. And soon snug side by side. They soared above the fleecy clouds In such a lovely ride. She made him "sore" with her much more "Ere she became his bride.

San Diego, Sept. 26.—When a San Diego belle, or a Chula Vista charmer, or a Coronado queen says "Do drop in for lunch today, Percy," it's a cinch that Percy will "drop" not figuratively, but literally these days. With the military flying base at Rockwell Field on North Island in San Diego Bay there are so many dashing young swains flying around that matrimonial changes are looking up considerably.

Back east a mere whiff of orange blossoms presages wedding bells and Hymen's altar, but out here in California where orange blossoms simply riot it takes something a bit whiffier and more out of the ordinary. Pungent odors of gasoline wafted from soaring hydroplanes and aeroplanes indeed have orange blossoms faded as first aid to romance, and matrimony on the coast, and elopements by the air route are quite the order of the day.

Pessimists there are no doubt who will opine that in such matches romance must needs be fleeting. But on the other hand, think how easily when clouds begin to gather on the matrimonial horizon, the young couple may fly to the other side of the clouds where there are only silver linings.

Anyway, flying beaux are very popular among the younger set in San Diego. In grandma's days a belle's prestige was regulated by the number of one-hoss shays hitched at the front door stoop, later the row of automobiles overflowing the porte cochere summed up a debutante's popularity. Here and now the number of planes buzzing around the parental roof tree or settling in the confines of the family ranch stamp the native daughter as the belle of them all.

Think how thrilling to have your best beau fly to your side at the slightest provocation. When Mary from Chula Vista, week-ending at Delmar, receives a flying visit from dashing Donald, who teaches embryo aviators how to use their wings at North Island, it makes the other girls just die with envy.

He whizzes round the hotel and flies low along the beach and waives all military rules as he waves to Mary and Mary waves to him amid the ocean waves.

Even as love laughs at locksmiths so it also laughs at military rules and regulations and ardent aviators take their best girls up for a spin through the clouds willy-nilly and military orders to the contrary. Hence it is quite essential that every popular young thing number an aviating outfit among her season's wardrobe. Smart effects in leather breeches, jerkin, leggings, close fitting helmets and nifty gauntlets make up her going up costume that holds second place only to her coming out frock. She dons dark ochre hued goggles as well, but not even such a jaundiced tint can detract from the rosy glow that paints her love's young dream above the clouds as she floats away on the wings of love and a 1919 model Spad.

S. A. GIRL WHO MADE DOUGHNUTS DURING BATTLE URGES FUND

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 25.—When Captain Signa Saunders of Brainerd concluded her speech at a Salvation Army drive dinner here, she reached across the table and shook hands with Henry L. Hanson of Holmen, who wore the uniform of a United States soldier.

"I know you," said the Salvation Army girl. "I met you behind St. Mihiel."

Hanson smiled and said: "I'll never forget you or those doughnuts and pies."

Hanson said later that Miss Saunders was in a hut back of St. Mihiel which was under fire continuously for six weeks.

The bride wore a dress of beautiful tan serge and the bridegroom wore his army uniform. A sister of the bridegroom, Miss Ida Wickham, was bridesmaid, and a brother of the bride, Curtis R. Strong, was best man. Miss Cora Goodrich was maid of honor.

The young couple will reside in Northeast Brainerd where the groom is employed as a fireman at The Northwest Paper Co. mill. They have a host of friends who wish them a long, happy and prosperous married life.

Short coat of tan jersey, exceedingly smart, with angora finish. The scarf and pocket flaps are of the cloth with all-over embroidery in yellow and black; on the whole exceedingly effective.

For the later, cooler evenings of summer, and the beautiful fall days—an elegant coat. It is made of taupe duvetyn with bands of braid, saucy color. It is extremely full at the bottom. The collar and cuffs are of beaver, with a panel of rich beaver trimming the front.

STYLES SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

Fall Coats and Wraps Very Like Those Worn During the Summer Months.

DOLMAN SHAPE IS RETAINED

Predictions That It Would Lose Its Popularity Have Been Proved Unfounded—Capes of English Tweed for Those Who Motor.

If one has been denied a fur coat for many years and has secretly cherished a longing thereafter, this is the year, doubtless, when this longing can be gratified, for so expensive are the lovely cloth things that if possession is based on the matter of cost then a decision in favor of the fur can be made, as there will be no very great difference in the price, remarks a fashion writer in the New York Sun. Of course I am referring to the elaborate and dressy models which all women admire and not everyone can possess.

Of course the sumptuous things of ermine, mink, sable and seal are regal and lovely in capelike and dolman effects which swathe the wearer from tip to toe in a luxury indescribable. Just as in the fall dresses there is nothing radically differing from styles of recent months, so in coats and wraps there is no departure from accepted models.

In Army Style.

A favored style is seen in the fine warm coats of camel's hair following the design of an officer's trench coat belted and close fitted for warmth and comfort. These lovely camel-hair coats are often mounted with deep fur collars of softest texture, such as brown fox or lynx. The huge patch pockets and deep fur cuffs which were so in evidence a season ago are no longer featured so emphatically, either on this sort of coat or on one of the velvetlike duvetyns or wool velours.

The dolman shape persists in spite of the persistent rumors to the contrary, and many of the most exclusive houses are showing the dolman, not only in the less expensive materials, but in the splendid furs and broadcloths and velvets as well. Much embroidery in self colors done in heavy silken threads is observed—perhaps for the reason that the great cost of fur will place it beyond the average pocket-book. A curious notion is seen in the use of monkey fur placed fringed along the bottom of short jackets, and used also to trim fur toques.

Monkey Fur Not Popular.

The use of monkey fur on an evening wrap of heaviest black satin is not unpleasing, as it has been cleverly done, but monkey fur will not be greatly admired, however smart it may be considered. On the particular wrap which it embellishes the back has been caught up in a sort of overdrapey suggesting the drooping blouse the French makers exploit continuously. The fur is used as a banding underneath this drapey and extends around the front and down the sides of the coat. The very long hair has all the effect of fringe and is soft and

HOW ABOUT THIS, MR. PRESIDENT?

President Wilson has been telling the people of the Pacific coast, that while the British Empire will have six votes in the assembly of the League of Nations, it will have but one in the Council, and that in reality it will have no more voting power than will the United States, as the council is to be the controlling power of the league.

This statement was accepted by his supporters as proof that Senator Johnson, who is trying to amend the treaty to give England only the same voting powers as this country, is unduly alarmed.

Now comes Senator Reed of Missouri, a democrat, who produces a letter signed by President Wilson, Lloyd George of England, and Premier Clemenceau of France, assuring the Canadian representatives that Canada was eligible to membership in the council of the League of Nations.

This letter, dated May 6, 1919, directly contradicts the statements of the president.

It is really most astounding and astonishing.

It certainly places the president of the United States in a most unfavorable light.

Joining Lloyd George and Clemenceau in assuring Canada that it is to have a vote in the council, and then telling the American people that England, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and India, (making up the British Empire) combined have but one vote in the council, invites criticism that contains a short and ugly word.

How about it, Mr. President?—St. Cloud Journal Press.

London—Sentenced to one month's imprisonment at Sunderland, Peter Lee, shipyard laborer, yawned and asked languidly if it carried "hard labor." "No," said the magistrate, and Peter yawned again.

London—Charged with assaulting a young woman walking with her fiancé, a Maidenhead man pleaded that he was drunk and "must have thought it was his missus."

Minnesota U Football

St. Paul, Sept. 26—Minnesota university's football squad looks better than ever before, many observers on Northrup field agreed today. With the war over and many old stars back, the gopher squad, after about two weeks hard work is going the old gait under Dr. Williams' supervision. Several letter men are in the backfield practice. But there are a number of promising looking youngsters.

Minnesota men are talking much of Iowa. They remember vividly the defeat of last year and Coach Williams has a weather eye on the Hawkeye squad. He has warned his men that all other teams in the conference are in better shape than last season and that this year's grade will be a hard one to climb.

Discrimination Charged

Linton, N. D., Sept. 26—Officers of the Occident Elevator Co. were to appear in court here today to answer charges of discrimination contrary to the law making it illegal for any corporation to buy grain at one point at a price lower than that paid at another point for the same grade of grain, making due allowance for difference in freight rates.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN

Peonies should be divided and reset during September or October. Pick a good supply of butternuts and hazel nuts to go with the popcorn this winter. Apple and nut trees furnish shade as well as fruit. They should be set in the background. Good evergreen and oak trees for transplanting must be frequently transplanted or root pruned.

Watermelons buried deep in wheat or oats will sometimes keep until Thanksgiving or even Christmas. Many perennials and shrubs may be divided this fall or early next spring, and reset to good advantage.

Do not forget to lift some of the geraniums, salvia, asters, or other plants in the yard or garden. They will bloom in the window this winter. A drain tile set over each plant is a good method of blanching celery. Celery for winter storage should not be blanched before putting in the cellar.

Plant tulips in the garden or border the last of September or early October. Tulips, narcissus, daffodils and hyacinths planted now in pots or boxes and put in a cool place will give good flowers next spring. Place squash on shelves in a dry room near the furnace or in a warm attic room. They must not be in a damp or frosty place. They will stand a great deal of heat and dry air, but little moisture. If you want squash or pumpkins to keep well, handle them carefully so they are not bruised.

Gladiolus flowers should be cut when the first flowers are opening. They may be kept in the house a long time and by cutting early the bulb has a better chance to develop. Gladiolus bulbs may be kept separate by storing them in paper sacks or pasteboard boxes as fast as dug. They should be cleaned as soon as dry enough.

Baptized in a Balloon.

The child of a well-known member of the British parliament was recently christened in the crypt of the house of commons. This is, in a sense, a survival of the custom of bygone days, when christenings in crypts were by no means uncommon. In one recent case in California, for instance, the ceremony was performed in a diving bell at the bottom of the sea. In another case the proud parents of the new arrival persuaded a clergyman to baptize the child while up in a balloon.

CONGRESS NOT TO HAVE ANY RECESS

SPECIAL SESSION WILL MERGE WITH THE REGULAR SESSION EARLY IN DECEMBER.

BIG PROBLEMS AFTER TREATY

Cummins' Railroad Bill, With Some Changes, Will Be Reported—Legislation Concerning Packers Comes Next—Good Predicts a Huge Deficit.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The leaders in congress are now agreed that the special session which has been doing business since May will be merged into the regular session on the first Monday in December. When the special session was called it was generally assumed that it would be finished with its work within three months, but when the three months period expired it had hardly got down to work on the big problems before it. The house is now marking time while the senate is considering the treaty of peace with Germany. With that treaty out of the way and with the treaty with Austria also disposed of, the way will be open for the consideration of legislation affecting domestic affairs.

Meantime the committees that are formulating the important legislation are making progress. Everybody recognizes that the disposition of the railroads is the most important of the domestic subjects to be considered. President Wilson, when he called the special session, served notice on the legislators that unless they had in the meantime provided for the return of the railroads, he would by executive order return them to their owners at the end of the present calendar year. Congress assumes that the president has not changed his mind about this and so is planning to authorize the return of the roads by the end of the year.

Cummins' Plan to Be Reported.

The railroad legislation is being approached in committee in each branch of congress. A subcommittee of the senate committee on Interstate Commerce, of which Senator Cummins of Iowa is chairman, has submitted to the full committee a bill for the return of the roads. The whole committee now has this bill under consideration. Members of the committee say some changes will be made in the subcommittee draft but that the main features of the Cummins plan, which provides for private operation under strict government supervision, will be retained.

The house committee on Interstate and foreign commerce has completed hearings on the various proposals before it for the return of the roads and representative Enoch of Wisconsin, chairman of that committee, is engaged with a subcommittee in completing a bill which will not differ in principle from the Cummins bill. The probability now is, so the leaders say, that the house will get to the subject before the senate does. This will depend, of course, on the length of time devoted to the treaty of peace by the senate. It is agreed in the senate that railroad legislation shall be taken up as soon as the treaty is out of the way.

Next to the railroad question, legislation proposing to license the meat packers and to place them under governmental restriction of various kinds is attracting attention. The immediate interest centers around the bills introduced in the senate by Kenyon of Iowa and Kendrick of Wyoming. The senate committee on agriculture has been conducting hearings on these bills for weeks and still has on its table a long list of witnesses to be examined. There has been much testimony against applying the licensing system to the packers and a great deal of testimony in favor of making use of that system in regulating the packing industry. The Kenyon and Kendrick bills have been introduced in duplicate in the house of representatives and the agricultural committee of that body also proposes to hold hearings before reporting on the proposed legislation.

Three Billion Deficit?

The ways and means committee of the house of representatives is preparing to examine into the state of the government's finances. The chairman of the committee on appropriations of the house, Representative Good of Iowa, was quoted recently as saying that there will be a deficit of at least three billion dollars in the United States treasury at the expiration of the fiscal year, June 30, 1920. If the chairman of the appropriations committee is correct this means that the provisions that have been made for raising revenue with which to meet the expenditures of the government will fall three billion dollars short of producing sufficient money to meet the government expenses. The ways and means committee is interested because, as the chairman of that committee, Representative Fordney of Michigan says, if the revenue laws are not to produce enough money to pay the government's bills, it will not be possible to repeal any of the war taxes during the present fiscal year.

The ways and means committee had planned to repeal the luxury taxes and make reductions in some other special taxes during the coming winter, but Fordney says that nothing will be done until the committee makes sure of the treasury situation.

DESERVED TO SAVE PUPPIES

Shrewd Old Mother Coyote Wasted No Time Trying to Get Them Out of the Sack.

The coyote is unpopular both among human beings and among its fellow animals; but the coyote is very intelligent as well as unpopular, evidently sharing these peculiarities with the fox.

Two young men who lived near Garfield, in the state of Washington—Mathews and Babcock by name—were plowing one spring when they came upon a family of three young coyotes. They took possession of the little creatures; and meantime the old coyotes, the little ones' parents, kept hovering about in an unpleasant way.

By and by, to get rid of them, Mathews went to his house, got his brother Henry, a gun and a gunny-sack. The little coyotes were put into the sack, which was then securely tied at the mouth. The old coyotes now disappeared, but in the hope of luring them so near that he could get a shot at them Mathews went to following the plowmen about the field, leaving at the end the bag with the little ones. Two or three times the party went around the field; but at length the old coyotes were seen they kept at a safe distance.

But soon as the plowmen and the gunner came around toward the place where they had left the sack they saw a strange sight; it was the old mother coyote, with the sack in her mouth, making off over the hill at full speed.

Henry fired at her, but without effect. She made good her escape with her puppies tied up in the sack, and doubtless she had no difficulty in ripping the bag open and liberating the young ones as soon as she reached a safe place.

If she had been so foolish as to attempt to open the sack before picking up the puppies she would certainly have lost the young ones and her life.

Nick Christoff, charged with assault with intent to kill, who in a moment of anger fired an automatic revolver at Miss Bessie E. Bisted and nearly killed her, appeared before Judge W. S. McClenahan in district court at Aitkin Friday morning, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

He was sentenced to Stillwater at hard labor, being given an indeterminate sentence.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Organization Met at the Lowell Building on Tuesday Evening

The Parent-Teachers council held at the Lowell building on Tuesday evening, was very well represented by ladies from like organizations throughout the city.

Miss Drew, dietitian of the N. P. hospital, gave a very interesting talk on the proper food for school children.

It was favorably voted on to join with the other mothers' clubs and have Mrs. Ulrich, of the state board of health, address these clubs at some future date.

Miss Boyers, the school nurse, gave a short talk which was heartily approved by all.

Mrs. W. H. Gemmell also spoke of the duties and work of the school nurse.

It was decided to hold these meetings throughout the winter months in the afternoon, on the second Tuesday of each month.

On account of the absence of Miss Jonsson, a teacher of last year, Miss McCrea was elected secretary.

The musical part of the program was furnished by Morris Nelson and sister.

Car Hits Hydrant

Edward Crowley, a young man from Brainerd, driving a Ford in the city yesterday afternoon, was given the choice of running down two women on the crosswalk between the First National bank and the Merchants State bank corners, or crashing into a hydrant at the First National bank corner. He naturally chose the hydrant, with the result that the front end of his car was badly damaged and the hydrant ceased to be of any use to the local Water Power company.

This was rather a peculiar circumstance, in that the driver of the car thought the two women were going to stop at the edge of the crosswalk before starting across, as he was very near. Instead they continued in their original plan of going across, and the nearness in which he found himself offered only one of two alternatives.

The matter was settled satisfactorily between Mr. Crowley and the Water Power company.—Little Falls Transcript.

ROLL OF HONOR

Herbert Anderson of Rocky Point resort returned yesterday from war service. He was in a cavalry regiment.

Oliver Benson, in war service a year and a half and honorably discharged from Camp Sherman, returned home Thursday.

Hints on Health

Physicians in every city are reporting flu cases. The following hints will greatly assist in preventing the scourge:

Dress warmly, be sure that outer garments are thoroughly clean. An overcoat or suit that has hung in a closet all summer should be renovated.

Clean curtains and draperies thoroughly, not just a mere dusting, but either washed or dry cleaned.

Rugs should be kept clean. A carpet sweeper or broom should be used as little as possible. They only fill the air with germs. Brainerd Model Laundry. 9812

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING TONIGHT

Harrison Fuller, State Chairman, to Deliver Address on Aims of Organization

AT ELKS HALL, EIGHT O'CLOCK

State Treasurer J. O. Ostby of Pequot to be Present—Temporary Officers to be Named

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a post of the American Legion has been called for 8 o'clock this evening at Elks hall above the Slipp-Gruehagen Co. store and will be addressed by Harrison Fuller, state chairman of the Legion.

He will tell of the aims and aspirations of the order and of work already accomplished. J. O. Ostby, of Pequot, state treasurer and organizer of the first post in Crow Wing county, will be present.

There is every assurance that the local post will be organized with a good charter list, following which temporary officers will be chosen. Crosby has plans under way to organize. Pequot, with the first post in the county, has a membership of 30.

The state is organized in congressional districts under a national head. On November 10, 11 and 12 a national convention is to be held in Minneapolis at which time a permanent charter will be granted to the proposed Brainerd post.

TWO LITTLE ONES BREAK THEIR ARMS

Misfortune came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Johnson when their little boys broke their arms this week.

On Tuesday Luverne, age 3½ years, broke his right arm when he fell in the backyard. An uncle of his was flying a kite and Luverne had his eye on the kite and not on the ground when he fell.

On Friday little Jimmie, aged 2, followed his brother's example and fell off a sill in the yard and broke his left arm.

Both now have their arms in splints and are doing fairly well, but play time has ceased until their injuries have been repaired.

BLUE BOOK CAR

Representatives of "Official Blue Book" Automobile Routes in Brainerd

S. S. Bushnell and W. J. Fontana, representing the Official Blue Book, an automobile guide, were in the city for a short time. They are at present routing new roads for the book in Minnesota. The company which put out the official blue book has several cars throughout the United States doing nothing but routing and rerouting, and adding different things that will be a benefit to motorists.

From Minnesota these men go to upper Michigan, where they will carry on the same work. Routing and gathering of information involves considerable writing and observation on the part of the men so employed.

Flies Up Six Miles

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 25.—For the third successive time Major R. W. Schroeder, chief test pilot at McCook field, broke the world's two-man airplane altitude record this afternoon when he ascended to an indicated height of 30,900 feet, or approximately six miles. A Lapere two-passenger plane was used in the flight.

LAST BIG DRIVE ON MISSISSIPPI

Competed by Conner & Wilson of Park Rapids—Days of Big Sawmills Gone

TIMBER LINE IS RETREATING

For Many Years the Mississippi Provided the Only Method of Transportation for Logs (Bemidji Sentinel)

With the completion of their hoisting contract last week, Conner & Wilson, of Park Rapids, completed the last big drive of logs down the upper Mississippi river.

For many years the Mississippi river has provided a means of transportation of logs which have been cut throughout Northern Minnesota, and millions of feet of logs have been driven down the river to mills throughout the state.

With the growth of the lumber industry in Minnesota, the Mississippi river has grown in importance as a means of transportation for logs. In the early days, timber from the southern edge of the great Northern Minnesota forests was driven down the river to Minneapolis and other cities in the southern part of the state, where lumber mills were established. The milling industry gradually pushed its way up into the north country, and great mills were established at Little Falls, Bemidji, Cass Lake, Brainerd, and other Northern Minnesota cities. In all of these cities the Mississippi river proved an important factor in solving the transportation problem, and long before the railroads had pierced the great forests of the north, big camps were established along the river, where the timber was cut during the winter and floated down to the mills with the spring floods.

During the past few years the amount of logs to be driven down the upper Mississippi river has gradually diminished and this year a drive of 10,000,000 feet of logs from the state park at Itasca to Bemidji for the Pine Tree Manufacturing company of Little Falls, closes the record, as far as big drives down the upper Mississippi are concerned.

The logs were driven down the Mississippi to Lake Irving, and were hoisted on cars here for shipment by rail to Little Falls. The contract for cutting, driving and hoisting the logs was awarded to Conner & Wilson, of Park Rapids. Big camps were established in the vicinity of the state park last winter, where the logs were cut, and last spring the logs were floated down the river to Bemidji, during the high water stage. The hoisting work has been in progress for several months, with Geo. Wilson in charge.

During the past four years a total of 48,000,000 feet of logs have been floated down the Mississippi river by the Pine Tree Manufacturing company and while the drive this year was the last big one that will be made down the upper part of the river, there are still 800,000 feet of deadheads in the bottom of the river, which the Pine Tree company will probably sell to some other concern which is now operating in this part of the state.

BRAINERD'S ODEST STORIES OF TODAY

The word "bacchanalian" which stumped the Chamber of Commerce spelling bee was tried out on several high school girls and they said "Well we couldn't have done much better."

Indoor spelling contests during the winter may pick up in favor in Brainerd just as quitoes has in St. Paul. Down there they are pitching horseshoes and the St. Paul Daily News gave them a lot of prizes to compete for. "Empty" Caine said one city paper writer first called the horseshoe throwing "small town stuff," but he was soon overcome by the list of entrants and the interest taken in the play for the championship. In the same way, that Chamber of Commerce spelling bee has started a rush for dictionaries and if Supt. Cobb, referee, had carried an armful of Pollard's advanced spellers that night, he could have sold a raft of them at the meeting just to settle disputes on some of the words.

Brainerd trains are slow ones occasionally, but the Northern Pacific has nothing on the Soo. A man named Hethsprington has used the Soo line up at Duluth's district court for freezing his feet while waiting for a Soo train. He wants $1281 damages.

Bank Robber is Reported Captured

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 26.—A lone bandit who held up the Farmers State bank at Lengby, Minn., at 1 P. M. Thursday, was caught shortly afterwards and is being held in the Polk county jail according to advices to St. Paul police today.

No details of the holdup were available beyond that about $2,000 in cash was taken. Lengby is about fifty miles west of Crookston.

UNAPPRECIATIVE

By EDNA W. SWIFT.

Mr. Barrows settled himself comfortably in his easy chair with a sigh of infinite content. It was a rainy Sunday—a steady downpour that threatened to deluge any neighborly person who might wish to venture out. Mr. Barrows was aware of this fact; hence the sigh of infinite content.

His wife entered the room, her eyes darting here and there for dust after the manner of a good housewife. She espied her husband resting blissfully in the big chair; his feet crowning a second one.

"That's right, George," she beamed. "Enjoy yourself. It's your one day of rest through the week, and it's raining so hard nobody will be here today, so you can read without interruption."

Mr. Barrows' answering smile was somewhat apprehensive, but he smiled pleasantly as he answered. "That's the idea, Martha. I see a good day ahead of me. Some life." Then he sank down even lower in the easy chair.

Scarcely had he started to read when his wife's wandering eye found the long-sought bit of dust on the carpet. It happened to be under the arm of her husband's chair. She hustled out into the kitchen and returned with the broom.

"Now, don't you move, George," she admonished, as she juggled the broom back and forth in a futile attempt to catch the offending particle. "I just want to get a little dust I see underneath your chair. You sit right still. I don't want to disturb you."

More futile jabs with the broom. Mrs. Barrows became nervous and in a desperate effort to sweep up the tormenting speck of dirt brought the broom dangerously near to Mr. Barrows' nose. He jumped up with an impatient ejaculation.

"For heaven's sake, Martha," he said. "Why, of all days, do you have to sweep on Sunday? Aren't six days enough to chase dirt. Here's the fashion sheet. Have you seen it?"

Mrs. Barrows seized the sheet and was soon engrossed in its fascinating descriptions. Her husband, feeling slight pains of hunger went to the

UNIQUE RECORD SET BY CATCHER SCHALK

Toils in Over 100 Games Each Season for Seven Years.

Little Backstop of Chicago White Sox Team Is in Class by Himself—He Is Light in Weight, but Not Often Injured.

Seven years ago Bill Gleason burst into the private offices of Charles A. Comiskey, wearing a large smile on his sun-seamed countenance and grasping firmly by the arm a slight youth. Bill exclaimed:

"Say, boss, I've got the greatest young catcher I ever saw."

Mr. Comiskey smiled. For years enthusiastic persons had been tipping him off to "the greatest this" and "the greatest that" who would cause the White Sox to step right out and become world's champions.

"Can he catch Ed Walsh?" the boss inquired.

"Say, he can catch any pitcher that ever lived," Gleason responded—and he can.

When he caught in a recent game Ray Schalk had toiled in over 100 games a season for seven consecutive years, which is a world's record in backstopping. George Gibson, a husky former Pittsburgh receiver, worked in 100 games for six years, but not consecutively. Even the great John Kling, who helped the Cubs to pennants, had enough first-class assistance that he was behind the bat in a century of contests only two years.

Schalk stands in a class by himself in more ways than one. He is the smallest of the star catchers, weighing only about 160 pounds. Yet he seldom is hurt and never seriously. His cutlike speed keeps him out of harm's way. Because of his fast, snappy throw they early hung on him the nickname of Cracker, referring to the way he whips the ball around.

To Clean Diamonds.

Diamond dust is a fine dust produced from cutting diamonds. It is extensively used by jewelers, chiefly for cleaning diamonds. It may be procured in any jewelry store, together with instructions for its use. Another quite satisfactory way to clean diamonds is to make a lather of soap, add a little ammonia and apply this cleansing preparation to the stones with a tooth brush.
